Mrs. Harold E. Fellows

Dear Mrs. Fellows:

I have not had the pleasure of meeting you and I did not wish to disturb you during these days following the tragic death of your husband. I wanted, however, to have an opportunity of telling you of my great admiration for him, although I had only met him on two or three occasions. However, I was one of the last persons to see him before his fatal illness as he lunched with me on March 8. We had a most interesting talk together about a matter in the public interest with which we were both deeply concerned. Our meeting together on this day was a very happy and constructive one. He showed no signs of illness and as usual, a broad grasp of the problems we were dealing with. He returned to his office in my car and was, I believe, stricken as he entered his office.

I felt you might like to know this about his last hours and to know that he was working in the public interest right up to the moment he was stricken.

I send you my deepest sympathy. I know what a loss his death has been not only to his family but to the great enterprise in which he was playing so large a part.

Faithfully yours,

Remarks:

Attached is for your information. It is a very preliminary paper which  wrote following his recent Cuban visit. We are still hopeful that some sort of a public opinion survey will be forthcoming although the situation makes it impossible to be certain.
